

Victor Hsiao		Conducted by: Faye Jao	December 2, 2015
URL / Image	Question	Response / Observation	Notes
"Home" Page	Just by looking at the home page for about 10 seconds, what would you say is the primary purpose of this website?	User thinks that this is a portfolio/resume site for possible employers to look at.	User is a friend studying computer games.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the most?	User finds it nice that the biographical block of text is neatly lined up on the left.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the least?	User has a slight difficulty reading the black text on the page as it seems to clash with the yellow background.
	Where would you go to contact the site owner?	User clicks on the "Contact" tab without trouble.
	How would you find the games that the site owner made?	User clicks on the "Work" tab without trouble.
"Work" Page	How would you download Captain Main's Adventure?	User clicks the screenshot of the game. "Oh, that's not it? I thought the picture would take me a download." User hesitates for a while before finding the download link.	User suggests making the link bigger to improve visibility.
	How do you feel about the layout of the individual projects?	User thinks the layout looks fine, as each project is separate from each other and information is easy to read and doesn't overlap.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the most?	User finds the blue containers for each project to be appealing.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the least?	User thinks the page looks fine overall and nothing stands out as unappealing.
Overall Website	How do you feel about the colors chosen for this website?	User finds the blue and yellow a good combination. The white text with blue background "seems okay overall." However, the yellow with black text "sorta clashes." User also likes how the tabs change color when hovered over.

Anthony Hoang		Conducted by: Faye Jao	December 2, 2015
URL / Image	Question	Response / Observation	Notes
"Home" Page	Just by looking at the home page for about 10 seconds, what would you say is the primary purpose of this website?	User thinks that it looks like a profile for a programmer who is into Visual Basic.	User is an UCI alumni who studied computer games.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the most?	User finds the layout simple enough to navigate. User knows whose profile it is because of the photo, and the background contrast makes the text easy to read.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the least?	The user finds the color scheme to be a bit too colorful.
	Where would you go to contact the site owner?	User clicks on the "Contact" tab without trouble.
	How would you find the games that the site owner made?	User clicks on the "Work" tab without trouble.
"Work" Page	How would you download Captain Main's Adventure?	User searches around and takes a while before locating "Submission Link."	User suggests a button or a link that says "Download."
	How do you feel about the layout of the individual projects?	User finds it hard to see all of the projects at a glance, but says "it's just two projects so far so it is fine."
	What elements of this page appeal to you the most?	User says that the pictures to the projects are a nice touch and attracts the user's eyes.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the least?	User finds centered description of the projects to be hard to read. Since the user's eyes are focused on the pictures, the download links shouldn't be placed at the bottom as they will be missed.
Overall Website	How do you feel about the colors chosen for this website?	User feels that the colors make the site owner seem really young and isn't very fond of it overall.

Yun Jao		Conducted by: Faye Jao	December 2, 2015
URL / Image	Question	Response / Observation	Notes
"Home" Page	Just by looking at the home page for about 10 seconds, what would you say is the primary purpose of this website?	"Uh. Visual Basic."	User is my sister, a nursing student who has minimal knowledge of technology.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the most?	User likes the fact that text could be highlighted manually to aid reading, and a simple/minimalistic design is quite nice.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the least?	User doesn't like the lack of padding on the side margins and the huge wall of text discouraged reading. The overall layout of the page isn't very enjoyable and user says the website seems "raw."	User is used to seeing side navigation bars.
	Where would you go to contact the site owner?	User clicks the "Contact" tab without hesitation.	User suggested that I could add a footer that's identical to the contents of the main navigation bar.
	How would you find the games that the site owner made?	"There are games on here?" User scrolls up and down but doesn't want to read the text. "I guess I'll click on this, because there are only 3 tabs..." User clicks on "Work" tab.
"Work" Page	How would you download Captain Main's Adventure?	"I thought pictures were clickable." User is tempted to click the game screenshot. "I guess here?" User refers to the link titled "Submission Link."	"Why don't you just write 'download'?"
	How do you feel about the layout of the individual projects?	"It was nice I guess, I can tell two projects are separated items."
	What elements of this page appeal to you the most?	User likes the fact that the two projects are separated sections and isn't confused.
	What elements of this page appeal to you the least?	User complains about not being able to click the project pictures.
Overall Website	How do you feel about the colors chosen for this website?	User feels that the overall color choice is "whatever, could be better. It seems very casual." But the background color contrasts well with text color and makes the text easier to read.	