#	Epic	Story Name	(Type of user) As a...	(What) I want to…	(Outcome) So that…	I know I've succeeded when...
			Narrative			Acceptance Criteria
1	Skills	Finding specific skills	Hiring manager	Find if a candidate has a specific skill needed for a job	I can hire someone who has the capabilities to do the work.	I can view the skills that the candidate has and clearly find an individual skill to see if it will align with what I am looking for.
2	Projects / Work	Seeing what was accomplished	Hiring manager	See what a candidate had created or worked on professionally.	I can see if this candidate has enough experience or is capable of doing the work.	I can form a conclusion from the projects and works of this candidate and see real applications of the candidate's skills.
3	Projects / Work	Determing what to assign	Supervisor / Project leader	Take a closer look at my new teammate, through past projects.	I know what tasks to assign to this individual based on the past experiences.	I can view and try out the projects that the teammate had created, and see for myself the application of the skills; when I can tell what tasks are suitable for the teammate.
4	Biography	Getting to know a candidate	Hiring manager	Find out more about a candidate's professional life.	I have more information about a candidate than just the listed skills.	I know a fair amount about the candidate's professional life, enough for me to make an impression and connect it with the skills.
5	External Profiles (LinkedIn)	Seeing things from a more social perspective	Hiring manager	See the social networks of the candidate.	I know the affiliations and connections of the candidate, as well as any written recommendations.	I can find, on the candidate's portfolio site, any external links to the candidate's social network profiles.
6	Personality	Getting a feel of the personality	Hiring manager	Get a feel of the personality of the candidate.	I know a bit more about who I'm hiring than just the skills and facts.	I go through the website and know what kind of person the candidate is, through its page design, language, and overall combination.
7	Profile Photo	Connecting and associating through pictures	Hiring manager / Interviewer	See a professional photo of the candidate.	I know what to expect when I meet the candidate.	I can find and view a profesionally presented photo of the candidate, and could visually connect and associate that image with the skills and other info presented on the page.
8	Easy to Contact	Finding contact info easily and quickly	Hiring manager	See if a candidate is easy to contact.	I know that the candidate is accessible and cares about being contacted.	I can access contact information at any part of the site within a few clicks, without having trouble or taking too much time to find it.
9	Email Address	Finding a way to contact by email	Coworker	Find the contact email of my colleague.	I can reach the colleague by email in case I need to send something or communicate about work.	I can send an email to my colleague using an email address provided from the colleague's portolio site.
10	Phone Number	Prefering to contact by phone	Hiring manager	Contact the candidate by phone.	I could reach them immediately should I be interested in hiring.	I can find a phone number on the site that I could use and call the candidate.
